

Cookie and Similar Technologies Policy

Effective Date: August 10, 2026

Version: 1.0

This Policy explains how Drama of a Gifted Kid LLC, doing business as Drama of the Fittest, uses cookies, local storage, pixels, software-development kits (“SDKs”), and similar technologies on dramaofthefittest.com and in our applications.

1. What These Technologies Do

Cookies and similar technologies may store or read identifiers and information on your browser or device. Mobile apps often use SDKs, device storage, or identifiers that perform functions similar to website cookies.

2. Categories

Strictly Necessary

Required for account login, authentication, security, fraud prevention, network management, shopping-cart or checkout functions, consent preferences, and core operation. These cannot generally be disabled through our consent tool because the requested Service may not function without them.

Functional

Remember language, region, display, accessibility, and other preferences. Where required, these are activated only after consent.

Analytics and Performance

Help us understand feature use, errors, crashes, and performance so we can improve the Services. Where required, these are activated only after consent.

Advertising or Cross-Context Tracking

Used to measure campaigns, personalize advertising, or track activity across services. Drama of the Fittest will not activate these technologies unless they are disclosed and the legally required consent or opt-out mechanism is provided.

3. Your Choices

Where required, nonessential technologies remain disabled until you choose “Accept” or select categories in the consent settings. You may change or withdraw your choice at any time through the cookie or privacy settings. Withdrawal does not affect processing that occurred lawfully before withdrawal.

Browser controls may block or delete cookies, but blocking necessary technologies may prevent features from working. Mobile operating systems may provide additional privacy or advertising controls.

4. Current Technology Register

Before launch, Drama of the Fittest will maintain an accurate in-product register identifying each deployed cookie, SDK, or similar technology; its provider; purpose; category; duration; and whether information is transferred internationally. The consent interface and this Policy must be updated whenever those technologies materially change.

5. Global Privacy Signals

Where legally required and technically supported, we will recognize applicable browser-based opt-out preference signals for sale, sharing, or targeted advertising.

6. Changes and Contact

We may update this Policy when technologies or legal requirements change. The effective date and version will be updated. Questions may be sent to dramaofthefittest@gmail.com.
